TerraBioGen Relaunches Website

Vancouver, Canada, April 4, 2016

TerraBioGen Technologies Inc., a developer of proprietary high-value agriculturally bioactive products, announces the relaunch of its website (www.TerraBioGen.com). The website relaunch coincides with the launch of the product, TerraBioGen LCFX, which provides crop yield improvement to the commercial greenhouse vegetable market and commercial greenhouse growers.

"We are pleased with the initial interest in TerraBioGen LCFX and believe the website relaunch will provide further awareness of this product and its benefits. Through our new web portal, viewers can access further information on LCFX's performance and mechanism of action. Also, customers can complete a simple form to request a free product trial. This is important since 'seeing is believing' for our current target customers." said TerraBioGen's CEO, Blair Heffelfinger.
